Nieuw Binckhorst

Let us explore a few other parts of The Hague.

With its old industrial look, it is becoming a trendy location. The most unique and cool restaurants recently opened their doors here. Nieuw Binckhorst is a neighborhood situated behind The Hague Holland Spoor Station.

It is used to be an industrial area back in the '90s. At this moment, the area is developing more and more with office buildings and is, therefore, an upcoming neighborhood. It is also home to a sustainable convention centre location: Fokker terminal.

Ready to dive into this special part of The Hague?

Statenkwartier

The Statenkwartier is a popular district in The Hague where many international organizations and expats are located.

The Convention Centre World Forum is in this district, next to many hotels such as The Hague Marriott and Novotel.

Characteristics are the diagonal street patterns with large, square-like crossings, and the frequent appearance of Art Nouveau architecture. This part of the city is close to the harbor.
